

Port of Los Angeles

Special Event: “100th Birthday Party” – To culminate its 12-month Centennial Celebration, the port hosted a once-in-a-lifetime light, sound and fireworks show for the community at the end of its festive 100th birthday party on Dec. 9, 2007. Targeted to families in the community, the daytime portion of the event was held at a new cruise ship luggage handling facility along the port’s main navigation channel, while the fireworks were set off that evening from a barge in the main channel. According to feedback from participants and visiting media, the event was described as “the best show ever.”
