Let’s Talk Freight
We Need Your Input on Moving Goods and Enhancing the Texas Economy

Listening Sessions

The Texas Department of Transportation (TxDOT) will be holding a series of listening sessions across the State in June, 2013. The purpose of these meetings is to help TxDOT to identify freight and goods movement issues, needs, trends, challenges, and opportunities and how to enhance the economic growth and competitiveness of the state.

We are looking for input from the public, community leaders and industry representatives from throughout the state. Within the freight community, we hope to hear from individuals representing all facets of freight trade and movement, including railroads, ports, trucking, shippers, receivers, forwarders, agriculture, manufacturers, 3PL, carriers, retailers, pipelines, and transportation providers.

Your participation is important because input obtained from these listening sessions will be used in developing statewide freight transportation priorities and investments strategies, and to ensure recommendations identified for the Texas Freight Mobility Plan address the needs of state’s freight, logistics, and business communities, and general public.

Again, we look forward to hearing your thoughts on how the Texas Freight Mobility Plan can enhance the state’s role as a leader in trade and commerce, both domestically and globally. Please feel free to invite others to these sessions.
