To-Do List (Updated!)

- Construct 50-foot deep container berth
- Install four super Post-Panamax cranes

The Port of Baltimore's new 50-foot deep, 1,200-foot long container berth and four super Post-Panamax cranes are now operational.

Thanks to our public-private partnership with Ports America Chesapeake, Baltimore is now one of only two U.S. East Coast ports able to handle some of the largest ships in the world.

Baltimore also offers a 50-foot deep channel, seamless East Coast and Midwest highway connections and has no air draft restrictions in one of the largest and most affluent U.S. consumer markets. Let us know today how the Port of Baltimore can help you tomorrow.
