Putin Hosts Meeting on Port Infrastructure Development

• “In recent years we have repeatedly turned to the issue of port infrastructure. This is understandable, because following the tragic events associated with the collapse of the Soviet Union, Russian ports’ capacity decreased significantly as we lost a huge number of cargo handling facilities...”

Russian President
Vladimir Putin,
8/20/2013
“According to Killas, issues that need to be solved include bottlenecks brought on by inadequate or outdated infrastructure, improving links in the transportation chain that connect ocean vessels with trucks and rail cars at ports, and putting ocean transportation jobs in the limelight.”

Siim Killas, European Commission Vice President

Could Ports and freight movement become the next Space Race?
SUMMARY
A very good year ...

• Ports are now seen as part of the National infrastructure - formerly roads, rails and runways
• The American public and Congress are more aware of the critical role ports have in our Nation’s economic future
• The Administration and Congress are engaged in addressing port infrastructure needs
• Global marketplace <-- Ports <-- Exports <-- Jobs
... What’s Next?

• Get WRDA passed
• Press the Administration to fund the Corps in FY15 consistent with the President’s statements of importance (walk the talk)
• Continue the AAPA/Corps Quality Partnership Initiative progress with Policy adjustments
