The San Pedro Bay Ports Clean Air Action Plan has been developed by the ports of Long Beach and Los Angeles in cooperation with the South Coast Air Quality Management District, California Air Resources Board and U.S. Environmental Protection Agency.
Key Messages

• The ports of Long Beach and Los Angeles have partnered with key environmental regulatory agencies to develop a sweeping strategy to significantly reduce the health risks posed by port-related air pollution.

• The Clean Air Action Plan will involve hundreds of millions of dollars of investment by the ports and private sector businesses.

• The Plan proposes to eliminate nearly 50 percent of harmful pollutants from port-related sources within the next five years.

• The Plan outlines specific emission-reduction strategies for all port sources: ships, trucks, trains, cargo-handling equipment and harbor craft.
